

I take my knee in solidarity with all oppressed people. I have been working on Civil Rights since the 60s and while it is not easy for me to get down on my knee at 70, it is important to me that I do whatever I can do to bring attention to what we all as fellow human beings need to do to protect each other and send a message that we will not stand for what those who oppress do. I just hope in some small way this will help with that message. And I am also very happy to be working with Titi De Baccarat on this, his project. We are so lucky to have such an talented artist, who is also an humanitarian, in our community here in Portland, Maine.
